

Call for Papers

Real life challenges us to accept, to find or to create a new equilibrium in personal and professional environment like two thriving systems that interact permanently with the economy. This new universe is in demand for a new economy, more dynamic, complex and sometimes very hard to define and follow. In this context we need to test economic concepts within the new economic equilibriums to acquire properly economic decisions.

The Faculty of Economic Sciences within Lucian Blaga University of Sibiu is organizing the International Economic Conference of Sibiu (IECS 2022) and is devoting a Student Section that will constitute a platform to encourage debates and exchanges of ideas on recent economic concerns in an extremely uncertain world.

We are pleased to invite Romanian and International students, both undergraduate and postgraduate level, to present their ideas and develop specific research academic skills.

IECS Students event will take place on

October 26th 2022, ONLINE

No participation fee.
